Loren Kwok Security Professional (Intelligence Analysis, OSINT)

lorenlykwok@gmail.com | linkedin.com/loren-kwok | github.com/LorenKwok

My name is Loren Kwok, and I am a security professional with a background in criminology, and expertise in intelligence analysis, threat assessment, and academic research. Through my previous work, I have gained experience in open-source intelligence (OSINT), physical security, and loss prevention. My goal for entering this field is to prevent others from being hurt by bad actors, and to ensure that the community can have peace of mind. Currently, I am looking to develop skills in cybersecurity to leverage with his intelligence analysis, potentially entering the field of cyber threat intelligence (CTI). I hope to connect with the community of like-minded individuals in the security world that also share the common goal of protecting others.